

Todd Pettengill began his broadcasting career at the age of thirteen. He spent thirty years as a morning show host on New York's 95.5 WPLJ-FM radio. Todd has been named Billboard Magazine Air Personality of the Year seven times and Radio and Records Magazine Major Market Air Personality of the Year six times. Previously, Todd had done mornings at WIOQ-FM, Philadelphia and prior to that served as morning host at WFLY-FM and was elevated to Operations Manager and eventually Vice-President in charge of Programming for Albany Broadcasting.

Todd co-founded the Hazardous Comedy Network with Rick Dees which was distributed by Clear Channel Communications. HCN distributed original comedy material to over two hundred and eighty radio affiliates in worldwide syndication.

Todd has an Emmy for his work on the television show TV Nation created by Michael Moore.

Todd Pettengill has produced and appeared on camera for five international television programs for World Wrestling Entertainment. Monday Night RAW, Mania, Action Zone, Superstars and Challenge. These programs were seen in over one hundred and fifty countries by over forty-five million people each week. Domestically, the programs aired on USA Network. Todd also hosted and co-produced Countdown, a live thirty-minute television program on TV Guide Channel, which preceded each monthly pay-per-view broadcast. Pettengill was also a segment producer on several WWE monthly PPV broadcasts. Additionally, Todd was a co-host on DISH NATION, a nightly, nationally syndicated television program.

Todd Pettengill acted as co-producer for twenty-six episodes of stand-up comedy specials on INDEMAND PPV.

Todd founded Pettengill Productions, Inc, which has been doing business since 1994. PPI has produced and co-produced several programs for corporate and commercial broadcast. PPI has produced numerous infomercials for international broadcast under the direction of Telebrands. Creator of the famous "As Seen on TV" logo, Telebrands Corp. is one of the industry's foremost consumer product companies with a focus in direct response television marketing. PPI is active in writing, shooting, producing and editing long and short form video for television and Internet. PPI was also responsible for the camera and lighting crew for the aforementioned national broadcast of Dish Nation.

Todd served as EIC for Xstream Broadcasting Networks, a national video streaming and Content Distribution Network (CDN) which serves both the corporate and entertainment industries. Todd was also an EP and Co-Owner of CameoHD, who developed and perfected its proprietary, high definition, video production and processing techniques in order to insert "live" unframed video and audio on web sites.

Additionally, Todd has appeared on several primetime and daytime talk shows as well as playing recurring characters on two Soap Operas. Pettengill is active in the television and radio commercial voice-over field, having done national campaigns for several major advertisers. Todd is currently serving as Co-Executive Producer for the classic TV show Wonderama.

Todd Pettengill and Pettengill Productions, Inc. and Pettengill Publishing are represented by William Morris Endeavor.